A guide for members who joined Pace
DC before 10 June 2019

Co-op Section

Important note

This guide is not intended to be a legal promise to members, as it's only a summary of the terms and conditions of Pace and reflects the pensions and tax legislation at the time the guide was written. If there is any conflict between this guide and the Rules, the Rules (as amended from time to time) will be overriding. Any changes to legislation will also override the terms of this guide. If you want to see a copy of the Rules, or have any questions concerning the contents of this guide, please contact Legal & General.

April 2024

Welcome to the DC pension guide.

This guide is for members of The Co-op Section of Pace who joined the scheme before 10 June 2019. If you joined on or after 10 June 2019 there is a separate guide for you which can be found at coop.co.uk/pensions. Your payslip will show the date you joined. If you're a member of The Co-operative Bank Section, you should visit the Bank's pensions website at co-operativebank.co.uk/pensions for pension information that is relevant to you.

Pace is the pension arrangement for Co-op colleagues.
This guide tells you what benefits you get as a member and also how Pace is run.

Watch the video on how Pace DC works, which can be found in the Useful information section of coop.co.uk/pensions

Defined contribution (DC)

This is a type of pension arrangement where the benefit you receive at retirement is based on the contributions paid into your account and investment returns. At retirement, you use your account to provide an income or a lump sum, or a mix of the two.

The highlights

This guide describes Pace DC, which is the defined contribution section of Pace, and is for members who joined Pace DC before 10 June 2019. If you joined on or after 10 June 2019 there is a separate guide. Your payslip will show the date you joined. There is also a defined benefit section, Pace DB (formerly Pace Complete) which closed in October 2015. Please refer to the separate guide at coop.co.uk/pensions for further details.

How much does it cost me to be a member of Pace?

You can choose how much you pay into Pace DC. Turn to page 5 for more details.

How does my pension build up?

In Pace DC, you and The Co-op pay contributions into an account. You also get tax relief on your contributions.

Your account is invested until your retirement. At retirement, you can choose how you take the money and more information on your options is available in Section 5. If you want to, you can make a choice about how your money is invested – but there are also three ‘Target’ investment options where your account is invested automatically so you don’t have to make investment decisions yourself.

See the Pace DC fund guide for more information to help you decide.

What other benefits does Pace give me?

As well as money in retirement, Pace can give your family benefits in the event of your death.

What about tax?

You get tax relief on your contributions, and national insurance savings through what is called ‘NICE Pensions’ (see page 10). Taken together, these savings mean that being in Pace DC may cost less than you think.

Who manages Pace?

The Pace Trustees make sure that Pace is run properly. They have chosen Legal & General to administer Pace DC. Legal & General make sure that your contributions are invested in your account, and they are your main contact if you have any questions. Their details are on page 30.

How do I manage my account?

You can see your current fund value and change your investment choices at coop.co.uk/pensions by following the links to Manage your Account. You can also download Legal & General's app from the app store on your smartphone or tablet.

What is the Pension Quality Mark Plus?

Pace has been awarded the Pension Quality Mark (PQM) Plus by the Pensions and Lifetime Savings Association (PLSA), which is the highest standard that can be achieved by PQM. In order to achieve this prestigious award, the PLSA had to be satisfied that Pace meets certain contribution requirements, is well managed, and has good member communications.

If there are any pension words you don't understand, you will find them explained on page 29.

Contributions to Pace DC

This section provides information on your contribution options.

What contribution rate do I pay?

Pace DC offers a choice of how much you pay into your Pace account. The level of life cover provided will depend on your chosen contribution rate. See page 19 for more details.

Contribution rates (% of Pay)
You pay	The Co-op pays	Total
1%	2%	3%
2%	3%	5%
3%*	5%	8%
4%	8%	12%
5%	10%	15%
6%	10%	16%
7%	10%	17%
8%	10%	18%
9%	10%	19%
10%	10%	20%

* If you were automatically enrolled and have not changed your contribution rate, your contribution will be 3% of Pay and The Co-op will be paying 5% of your Pay. You can change to a different contribution level at any time.

If you don't think you can afford the minimum contribution you can choose to pay in a lower amount, so that at least you're making some savings for the future.

The contribution rates are based on Pay (also known as 'pensionable earnings'). This is your basic pay, plus overtime and any other payments that are pensionable, excluding any bonus payments.

Life cover is based on Salary. For the purpose of working out your death in service benefit, 'Salary' means either your Pay in the 12 months prior to the date of death, or your basic annual Salary at the date of death, if higher. If you have previously been a member of Pace DB, you may be entitled to extra life cover as well as that provided by Pace DC. See the Pace DB pension guide for more information.

The DC pension modeller can show you how much it costs to be in Pace DC and how much The Co-op pays in to help you save. Go to coop.pacepensions.co.uk/dc-modeller/

How do I change my contribution?

You can change your contribution rate at any time by completing the Increase or decrease my contributions form.

You can use the DC pension modeller to see what difference paying in more could make to the value of your account at retirement – go to coop.pacepensions.co.uk/dc-modeller/

Please note that if you want to pay a contribution of more than 3%, you'll be entitled to additional life cover and your application may be subject to you meeting certain medical requirements.

Can I transfer another pension into Pace DC?

You can transfer other pensions into Pace DC if you would like to do so.

If the pension you'd like to transfer is from a defined contribution (DC) scheme, like Pace DC, you should read Your guide to pension transfers before you complete the transfer request form and return it to Legal & General. The administrator of your old pension may also need you to complete some forms before they can transfer your pension to Pace DC.

If you'd like to transfer a defined benefit (DB) pension, or you're unsure whether the pension you'd like to transfer is from a DB or DC scheme, please contact Legal & General on 0345 026 8689.

Please note that Pace DC can't currently accept transfers in from Pace DB, or pensions from which you've already started to take your benefits.

What if I'm also contributing to a personal pension?

You can pay into Pace DC and also pay into a personal pension at the same time. You'll also get tax relief on any payments you make into a personal pension up to certain limits (see Section 3, page 9 for more information about tax). However, The Co-op will not pay contributions into any personal pension you may have.

At a glance

You can change your contribution rate at any time by completing the Increase or decrease my contributions form.

Automatic enrolment

What is automatic enrolment?

The law says all eligible employees must be automatically enrolled into a workplace pension scheme. (Employees can opt out if they want to.) All eligible employees will be automatically enrolled into Pace DC. An eligible employee is someone aged between 22 and State Pension Age who earns over a certain amount (currently £10,000 a year). For anyone who is automatically enrolled into Pace DC on or after 10 June 2019 there is a separate guide.

If you were automatically enrolled and have not changed your contribution rate, your contribution will be 3% of Pay and The Co-op will be paying 5% of your Pay. You can change to a different contribution level at any time.

Can I pay less than 3%?

If you don't think you can afford the minimum contribution of 3%, you can choose to pay in a lower amount, so at least you're making some savings for the future. If you choose a contribution that is below the minimum required by the Government's automatic enrolment rules, The Co-op may increase your contribution in the future to the minimum amount required by automatic enrolment. If this happens, you will receive further information at the time and you can choose to reduce your contribution again if you want to.

At a glance

If you leave Pace DC or choose to pay less than 3%, you may be automatically enrolled back into Pace DC in the future.

Please think carefully before you opt out as you will not be eligible to rejoin the Pace DC pre 10 June 2019 section.

Can I opt out of Pace DC?

If you don't want to be a member, you can opt out of Pace DC. You should think carefully before opting out. If you do, The Co-op will stop paying pension contributions into your account and your level of life cover may reduce. The Co-op changed its pension offer on 10 June 2019 so if you opt out of Pace and then decide you would like to join again in the future, you won't be able to join on the same terms as you have currently, and Co-op contributions and life cover will be less generous. Please see the guide for members of Pace DC who joined on or after 10 June 2019.

If I opt out, will I be enrolled back into Pace in the future?

The law says that The Co-op must enrol you back into Pace around every three years. If you meet the criteria as described above, you will have the option to opt out again, if you wish. You should note if you are re-enrolled into Pace DC on or after 10 June 2019, you won't be re-enrolled on the same terms as you have currently. Please see the guide for members of Pace DC who joined on or after 10 June 2019.

If I opt out of Pace DC, can I rejoin later?

Yes, if you opt out you can rejoin Pace DC any time by completing the Join Pace DC form which is available at coop.co.uk/pensions, or by calling Legal & General. You should think carefully before you opt out. The Co-op made some changes to its pension arrangements from 10 June 2019. If you choose to stop paying contributions, you will not be able to rejoin again in the future on the same terms.

Being a member

How much does it cost?

In Pace DC, you and The Co-op pay contributions into your account. You can choose to pay in between 1% and 10% of your Pay. The contribution rates are set out in the table below.

Contribution rates (% of Pay)		Total % paid into your account
You pay	The Co-op pays
1%	2%	3%
2%	3%	5%
3%*	5%	8%
4%	8%	12%
5%	10%	15%
6%	10%	16%
7%	10%	17%
8%	10%	18%
9%	10%	19%
10%	10%	20%

* If you were automatically enrolled and you haven't changed your contributions , you will be paying 3% of your Pay and The Co-op will be paying 5% of your Pay. You can change to a different contribution level at any time.

If you don't think you can afford the minimum contribution, once you are a member you can choose to pay in a lower amount, so that at least you're making some savings for the future.

This section explains how much it costs to be a member of Pace, the different ways of paying your contributions, and what happens to the money you pay in.

Pay

Also called 'pensionable earnings'. This is your basic pay, plus overtime and any other payments that are pensionable, excluding any bonus payments.

You can use the DC pension modeller at coop.pacepensions.co.uk/dc-modeller/ to see how much it costs you to be in Pace DC and how much The Co-op will pay in to help you save.

At a glance

If you were automatically enrolled into Pace DC and you haven't changed your contributions, you will be paying 3% of Pay (so £3 out of every £100 you earn).

If you want to pay more than this minimum amount, you can choose to contribute up to 10% of your Pay (£10 out of every £100 you earn).

If you pay more, The Co-op will contribute more too, up to a maximum of 10%. You get tax relief on your contributions.

You can pay more than 10% of your Pay into Pace DC if you want to build up a bigger fund for retirement - read the AVC factsheet for more information.

What happens to my contributions?

Your contributions and The Co-op's are paid into an account in your name, which is administered by Legal & General. Your money is invested and when you come to retire you use the money in your account to provide yourself with an income or a lump sum. The Pace DC factsheet contains more information. In addition, Section 5 of this guide provides information on what happens when you retire and more detailed information is in the retirement guide.

What happens if I get a pay rise?

As contributions are a percentage of Pay, the value of your and The Co-op's contributions will automatically increase.

If I join Pace DC, do I pay less tax?

You get tax relief on your contributions to Pace. So every £10 you pay into Pace only costs you £8. (One way of explaining it is that some of the money that you would have paid to the Government as income tax gets paid into your Pace account instead.) These figures assume that you pay tax at the basic 20% rate. If you are a higher rate taxpayer (up to certain limits), the benefit to you may be even greater. Also, contributions are usually paid through what is known as 'NICE Pensions', a salary sacrifice arrangement that means you make further national insurance savings (see page 10 for more detail). If you don't earn enough to pay income tax, you will not receive tax relief from the Government on your payments. However, this doesn't affect the amount that is paid into your pension and you'll continue to benefit from the money that The Co-op pays in.

Can I pay more than 10% into my account?

You can pay more than 10% of your Pay into Pace DC if you want to build up a bigger fund. You can pay Additional Voluntary Contributions (AVCs), which are extra payments you make into Pace DC. When you retire, you use the money in your AVC account to provide yourself with additional benefits. You can decide how much to pay and you can also vary your AVCs. You also benefit from tax relief on your AVCs (up to a certain limit), as AVCs count towards the total amount you can pay into a pension under the Annual Allowance limits. Please visit coop.pacepensions.co.uk/useful-information/tax-information/ for more details. Your AVCs will be deducted from your Pay, rather than being paid through NICE Pensions.

If you want to pay AVCs, fill in the Start paying AVCs form on coop.co.uk/pensions. You can find out more about paying AVCs by reading the AVC factsheet on the pensions website.

Remember, you can pay up to 10% of your Pay as 'ordinary' contributions through NICE Pensions.

What is NICE Pensions?

NICE Pensions is a 'salary sacrifice' arrangement run by The Co-op that lowers the cost of saving for a pension and actually increases your take-home pay (that is, the pay you get after you've paid pension contributions, income tax and national insurance from your pay). Most people will automatically pay into Pace using NICE Pensions.

With NICE Pensions, you don't actually pay any contributions into Pace. The Co-op pays them for you! In exchange, you agree to reduce your basic pay by an amount that is equal to what your pension contributions would have been. So, if you earn £15,000 a year, and you pay 3% into Pace (£450 a year), your basic pay after NICE Pensions would be £15,000 - £450 = £14,550.

Now, this is the clever bit: because your basic pay is smaller, you pay less national insurance - and that means your take-home pay actually ends up being more than if you weren't in NICE Pensions. See the example on the next page.

NICE Pensions does not affect any other employee benefits or statutory payments, such as life assurance, overtime, sick, redundancy and holiday pay or bonuses, which are all worked out according to your pay before the NICE Pensions reduction is applied. The benefits you receive from Pace are also unaffected by NICE Pensions.

Is everyone better off paying their contributions through NICE Pensions?

Most colleagues will benefit from NICE Pensions. However, there are some people for whom NICE Pensions is not suitable; this includes people who earn close to the National Minimum Wage and people who earn close to the national insurance thresholds (around £242 per week from 6 April 2024). If you fall into either of these two categories, The Co-op will assess your earnings levels and if NICE Pensions is unsuitable for you, you'll automatically be taken out of NICE Pensions and you'll pay your pension contributions by payroll deduction. You will, however, automatically be included in NICE Pensions should NICE Pensions become suitable for you in the future.

From 6 April 2024, if you don't earn enough to pay income tax and you're contributing to Pace DC, HMRC may contact you after the end of the tax year to make a top up payment. This additional payment will be equal to any income tax relief you are eligible to receive from the Government on your pension contributions. If this affects you, HMRC will contact you after the end of the tax year to make the payment direct to your bank account. Please note that HMRC may need you to provide your bank details so that they can make the payment.

Can I opt out of NICE Pensions?

Yes. You need to be happy that NICE Pensions is right for you. You can opt out of NICE Pensions and pay contributions directly from your Pay, if you prefer. You can do this at any time by completing a Change how I pay my contributions form on coop.co.uk/pensions

At a glance

NICE Pensions stands for National Insurance Contribution Efficient Pensions.

Under NICE Pensions you may benefit from national insurance savings. This helps to reduce the cost of paying into Pace.

NICE Pensions is the name of the way in which contributions are made to Pace. It is not a separate arrangement.

NICE Pensions operates automatically to make contributions to your pension more cost effective. If you wish, you may opt out of NICE Pensions.

You can find out more about how NICE Pensions works by reading the NICE Pensions factsheet at coop.co.uk/pensions

NICE Pensions example

Jane earns £15,000 a year. She is a member of Pace and has a contribution rate of 3% of her Pay. Jane pays tax at the standard rate (20%).

3% of Jane's Pay = £450 a year, which is a contribution of around £35 each pay period.

£35

The pension contribution shown on Jane's payslip.

£25 the actual amount
Jane's Pay is reduced by

The difference is made up of:

£3 national insurance savings

£7 tax relief

This example is based on the tax and national insurance rates from 6 April 2024. The total amount invested in Jane's pot would be £92 (including The Co-op's contribution of 5%), however this would only cost Jane £25.

Is there a limit on how much I can pay into my pension each year?

The Annual Allowance is a limit set by the Government for how much tax-free money you and The Co-op can pay into a pension in any one year. For 2024/25 the Annual Allowance is £60,000. Anyone drawing some of their pension savings under the new flexible retirement rules may have their allowance restricted to £10,000 (the Money Purchase Annual Allowance). You'll be advised by your pension provider if such a restriction applies to you. There is more detail in the Pension Tax Limits: Summary Factsheet.

Is there a limit on how much I can pay into my pension during my lifetime?

The Government has replaced the Lifetime Allowance with two new lump sum allowances with effect from 6 April 2024. These new allowances limit the amount of lump sum benefits people can take from all of their pension savings without incurring a tax charge. The changes are unlikely to affect most of our members, but if you think you may be affected, you should consider taking financial advice.

The new lump sum allowances are:-

- The Lump Sum Allowance ("LSA") of £268,275; and
- The Lump Sum and Death Benefit Allowance ("LSDBA") of £1,073,100

If permitted, payments in excess of these amounts will generally be taxable. The limits noted above can vary depending on a member's individual circumstances. There is also a separate allowance in relation to members who wish to transfer their pension benefits overseas.

The tax factsheets are currently being updated with more information about the new lump sum allowances and how these may affect you.

Pension Input Period

For the purposes of the Annual Allowance, each assessment year is defined as the Pension Input Period, or PIP. For Pace, the PIP runs from 6 April to 5 April. Please see the Pension Tax Limits: Summary Factsheet at coop.co.uk/pensions

Will I pay contributions if I'm absent from work?

Family leave

Family leave means maternity, paternity, adoption, parental, shared parental or parental bereavement leave. While you're on family leave, you'll still be a member of Pace and will be covered for the death in service benefits that are described in Section 6, page 19. Your contributions to Pace DC will be based on the actual Pay you receive. However, The Co-op's contributions will be based on your full Pay (the Pay you were getting before you went on family leave). If you don't receive any Pay while on family leave, your contributions to Pace will stop and so will The Co-op's.

Ill-health

If you're too sick to work, you may be able to use your account early to provide ill-health benefits. Please turn to Section 6, page 20 for more details.

Other periods of absence

If you're on a career break or absent from work for any other reason than those described previously, and you don't receive any Pay during this time, neither you nor The Co-op will pay contributions into Pace. You will, however, continue to be covered for your death in service benefits.

What if I work part-time?

Your contributions and death in service benefits will be based on your part-time Pay.

At a glance

While you're on paid family leave, you'll continue to be covered for death in service benefits.

Your contributions to Pace during paid family leave will be based on the actual Pay you receive.

If you work part-time, your contributions are based on your part-time Pay.

Where is my money invested?

In Pace DC you can choose how your account is invested, from a range of funds chosen by the Trustees.

At a glance

You can find out more about your investment options in the fund guide for members of Pace DC.

Target options

Pace DC offers three Target options, which are designed to be appropriate for the different retirement options you can take from Pace.

1. Target: Lump Sum (the default option)

This option is designed to be a good match if you want to take your account as a one-off lump sum at retirement. This is also the option your contributions will be invested in if you don't make an alternative choice.

2. Target: Secure Income

This option is designed to be a good match if you want to use your account to buy a pension (annuity) at retirement.

3. Target: Flexible Income

This option is designed to be appropriate if you want to have the flexibility to leave some or all of your account invested and take sums of money from it either as an income or as a number of cash sums. In Pace, you can't leave some of your account invested once you have started to take money out, so you would have to transfer to another pension provider that can offer this, at retirement. You also have the option to move your account into Legal & General's Pension Access Scheme (PAS), which is a Mastertrust set up to help pension savers access their money flexibly through drawdown.

For full information on your investment options, see the separate Pace DC fund guide available at coop.co.uk/pensions

What charges apply to my account?

The charges that Legal & General apply to your account cover two areas; the administration and the investment of your account. Both charges are expressed as a percentage of your fund value. The administration charge is called the annual management charge and is 0.14% of your account each year. The investment charge is called the fund management charge and is between 0.09% and 0.35% of your account each year, depending on your investment choices. The total charge applied to your account would therefore be between 0.23% and 0.49% each year, depending on your investment choices.

The fund management charges for each of the investment options are shown in the fund guide, which you can find at: coop.co.uk/pensions

This means that the actual administration charge is 14p a year for every £100 in your account, and the investment charge is between 9p and 35p a year for every £100 invested, depending on your investment choices, which means the total charge is between 23p and 49p a year. So if you had a fund of £1,000 and you were invested in the Target: Lump Sum option, the annual charge on your account would be no more than £2.70.

Pace DB (formerly Pace Complete)

What is Pace DB?

Pace DB is the defined benefit section of Pace. It is now closed to new members and no contributions can be made by members who were previously in Pace DB.

Where can I find more information?

The Co-op's pensions website at coop.co.uk/pensions has more information about Pace DB. If you were previously a member of Pace DB, please see the Pace DB pension guide.

Retirement benefits

This section tells you about the retirement benefits you build up in Pace DC and how and when you can take them.

What happens to the money in my Pace DC account when I retire?

There are a number of ways you can use the money in your account at retirement.

1. You can take all of your account as a lump sum; 25% will be paid tax-free and the rest will be taxed as extra income. This means you could pay a higher rate of tax on some of your payment if it pushes you into a higher tax bracket.
2. You can use your account to buy a guaranteed income, which is called an annuity. If you want to, you can take up to 25% of your account as tax-free cash and use the rest to buy an annuity.
3. You can leave your account invested and then decide if you want a regular income, or amounts as and when you need them - instead of taking one lump sum payment. This option is sometimes known as 'drawdown or flexi-access drawdown'. The first 25% of your account will be paid tax-free and the rest is taxed as income as it is withdrawn. Remember, the value of your invested pot can go down as well as up, which means the income isn't guaranteed and you could run out of money.
4. You can take a series of lump sums from your policy. Of each lump sum, 25% will usually be tax-free with the remaining part to be taxed as income.
5. You can take a combination of the above options.

Options 3 and 4 are not available directly from Pace DC because you can't leave some of your account invested once you have started to take money from it. You would need to transfer your Pace account to another pension provider who can offer this, at retirement. However, one of the options available to you at retirement will be to transfer your account into Legal & General's Pension Access Scheme (PAS), which is a Mastertrust set up to help pension savers access their money flexibly. Legal & General are the current administrators of Pace DC, so you'd be able to continue to use their online system, Manage your Account, if you transferred to the PAS.

Read the retirement guide available at coop.co.uk/pensions for more information on your options in Pace DC at retirement and where you can go for more help with your choices.

If you're thinking about buying an annuity (using the money in your account to buy a pension from an insurer), you should consider taking advice. Legal & General can also help members who want to buy an annuity, by offering an annuity broking service. Legal & General will tell you if their quote is the best in the market. If it isn't, their partner Annuity Ready lets you compare quotes from other providers to help you find the best deal. More information on annuities, and all of the other retirement options can be found at yourpensionoptions.legalandgeneral.com/co-operative or by contacting Legal & General on 0345 026 8689. While the Pace Trustees have facilitated access to these options, they are not recommending any particular course of action and are not responsible for information provided by the annuity broking service.

What will happen at retirement?

As you approach normal pension age (or selected retirement age, if you have chosen one), you will receive more information on your options. Pace has developed a guide which you may find useful when considering your retirement options; the guide can be found at: coop.co.uk/pensions. Legal & General (the administrators of Pace DC) assume that you'll want to retire at age 65, unless you tell them otherwise. If you want to retire earlier or later than 65, you should call Legal & General. This is particularly important if you are invested in one of the Target investment options as Legal & General automatically switch your funds by reference to your retirement age.

Remember, it can take several weeks for Payroll to process you as a leaver and let L&G know. L&G cannot pay your retirement benefits until this notification has been received from The Co-op.

What if I'm unsure about which option is right for me?

More information about your options can be found on Legal & General's online retirement portal, yourpensionoptions.legalandgeneral.com/co-operative or by contacting Legal & General on 0345 026 8689.

Legal & General's retirement advice

If you're aged 55 or over and living in the UK, a Legal & General adviser could help you review your pension and future retirement options. Should you wish to use this service, prices start from £500 and you have the option to pay directly from your pension pot. To find out more, call 0800 072 0016.

MoneyHelper

MoneyHelper is a Government service that provides free guidance and information to help you manage your finances, including your pension. All of the information that was previously available through Pension Wise, The Pensions Advisory Service and the Money Advice Service has been moved to the MoneyHelper website. Go to moneyhelper.org.uk for more information.

Choosing what to do with your pension savings is an important financial decision; you can often get more for your money by shopping around.

Please note that MoneyHelper can only provide general guidance and not personalised advice. Neither the Trustees, The Co-op nor Legal & General (as the administrator) can provide you with financial advice. You can speak to a financial adviser for personalised information. To find an adviser in your area, go to moneyhelper.org.uk and search for 'retirement adviser'.

When can I take my pension?

The normal pension age for Pace is 65. You have some options regarding when you take your pension, as described below.

Can I retire early?

Yes. You may retire early, at any time from age 55*. If you retire early, and choose to take your pension benefits, they will likely be smaller as you'll have paid in fewer contributions.

Can I retire later than age 65?

Yes. Note that any contributions paid into your account after age 75 will not be eligible for tax relief.

Can I take my pension and continue working?

Yes, you may be able to take your pension and continue working for The Co-op, but you'll be required to opt out of Pace. You may want to re-join Pace DC after you have taken your retirement benefits, so that you can carry on getting contributions from The Co-op.

If you do this, you should note that the amount of money you and The Co-op can pay into your Pace DC account once you've rejoined might be restricted to a maximum of £10,000 per year.

Important

It's really important to tell Legal & General if you're planning to retire earlier or later than 65, because this can affect how your account is invested, if you're using one of the Target investment options. Just call Legal & General or write to them to let them know (contact details are on page 30). Read the Pace DC fund guide on the pensions website to find out more.

You can also change your retirement age through Manage your Account or by downloading Legal & General's app from your app store on your smartphone or tablet.

*The Government has confirmed that the minimum pension age at which people may ordinarily access their pension benefits will increase from 55 to 57 from 6 April 2028, alongside planned increases in the State Pension Age. Depending on when you joined Pace and the benefits that you have in Pace, you may be protected against this change and may still be entitled to access your benefits before age 57 after 6 April 2028.

Death and ill-health benefits

This section tells you about the benefits that Pace provides on death or if you become too ill to work.

What benefits are paid if I die while I’m still contributing to Pace?

The money in your account will be paid as a lump sum (including the contributions paid by The Co-op and any Additional Voluntary Contributions that you have paid).

In addition, a death in service lump sum will also be paid. This depends on your contribution rate at the time of your death.

Your contribution rate	Lump sum
1% – 3% of Pay	1 x Salary (or £5,000 if more)
4% – 10% of Pay	3 x Salary

If you were an active member of Pace DB on 28 October 2015 and switched immediately to Pace DC, you’ll also qualify for an additional 3 x Salary life cover, provided that you satisfy the ‘actively at work’ criteria as at 29 October 2015. Please see some terms you should know – page 29. This 3 x Salary cover will remain in place while you are a contributing member of Pace DC.

What happens if I’m not contributing to Pace and I die while I am employed by The Co-op?

In this case, a lump sum of £5,000 or 1 x Salary, whichever is the highest, will be paid by The Co-op. If you have previously been a member of Pace DC then the money in your account will be paid in addition.

What happens if I die after I leave The Co-op but before I take my pension?

Your account will be paid as a lump sum, in the same way as described above.

Who decides who will get my Pace benefits when I die?

Pace is run by a Board of Trustees (see Section 8, page 26). If you die, the Trustees decide who should get benefits from Pace. This is to ensure that the payment does not attract inheritance tax. Because the Trustees need to decide who the benefits should be paid to, it is very important that you tell the Trustees how you would like them to be paid. You can do this online via Manage Your Account or by completing and returning a Nomination form to Legal & General. You can find this form on the pensions website, or ask Legal & General to send you a copy.

It’s also important to keep your Nomination form up to date as your circumstances change. The Trustees will usually follow your wishes, but they’re not bound by them.

The value of your account plus the death in service lump sum will need to be tested against the new Lump Sum and Death Benefit Allowance (“LSDBA”) to check you have enough LSDBA available to pay the lump sum tax-free to your dependants.

This test will also take into account any other lump sum benefits you may have previously taken from any other pension schemes to check how much LSDBA you have available.

The tax factsheets are currently being updated with more information about the new lump sum allowances and how these may affect you.

If you also have benefits in Pace DB then you may also receive death benefits from this section; see the Pace DB pension guide for further information.

Salary
For the purpose of working out your death in service benefit, ‘Salary’ means your Pay in the 12 months prior to the date of death, or your basic annual Salary at the date of death, if higher.

What if I die after I take my pension?

It depends on the choices you make when you retire:

- If you take all of your Pace account as a lump sum, there'll be no money in your account to provide benefits to your family.
- If you use your account to 'buy' a pension, which is called an annuity, you'll be able to choose to have a pension paid to your spouse or a lump sum paid to your family at the time that you buy the annuity.
- If you transfer your benefits to another pension scheme (such as Legal & General's Pension Access Scheme) and leave your account invested, taking sums of money directly from it, if there is any money left invested, your dependants will be entitled to receive it (tax-free if you die before age 75).

What happens if I have a long-term illness and I can't return to work?

You may be able to use your account to provide benefits before age 55* if you become seriously ill or incapacitated.

You can only take benefits in these circumstances where the Trustees receive written evidence from a registered medical practitioner confirming that you're seriously ill or incapacitated. If you should find yourself seriously ill and unable to work, please contact your HR representative in the first instance.

Incapacity

Pace DC defines incapacity as a 'permanent physical or mental impairment which prevents (and will continue to prevent) the colleague from following their normal occupation, or from doing any paid work (except work provided for remedial activity for which the colleague receives only a modest amount of pay)'.

If you also have benefits in Pace DB then you may also be able to receive additional ill-health benefits; see the Pace DB pension guide for further information.

At a glance

If you die before retirement, your account will be paid – usually as a lump sum.

If you're contributing to Pace when you die, a tax-free death in service lump sum is payable of 1 x Salary or 3 x Salary, depending on your contribution rate at the time of your death.

Death benefits after retirement depend on the choices you make at retirement.

Remember to keep your Nomination form up to date so the Trustees know what your wishes are.

If you become seriously ill, you may be able to use your account to provide benefits before age 55*. If you also have benefits in Pace DB then you may also receive death benefits from this section; see the Pace DB pension guide for further information.

*The Government has confirmed that the minimum pension age at which people may ordinarily access their pension benefits will increase from 55 to 57 from 6 April 2028, alongside planned increases in the State Pension Age. Depending on when you joined Pace and the benefits that you have in Pace, you may be protected against this change and may still be entitled to access your benefits before age 57 after 6 April 2028.

Leaving benefits

This section tells you what happens to your benefits if you leave Pace, or if you leave The Co-op.

What happens if I leave The Co-op before I take my benefits?

If you leave The Co-op, you and The Co-op will stop paying contributions into Pace. You'll no longer qualify for the lump sum death in service benefits from The Co-op. The options you have will depend on when you joined Pace and how long you were a member of Pace, as explained on the next page.

Point to note: If you decide to opt out of Pace DC, it can take several weeks for Payroll to process you as a leaver and let L&G know. L&G cannot pay any retirement benefits or transfer your pension to another pensions provider until this notification has been received from The Co-op.

Opting out of Pace

If you opt out of Pace but remain employed by The Co-op, you'll still have life cover of £5,000 or 1 x Salary, whichever is highest.

You should think very carefully before you opt out of Pace DC. The Co-op changed its pension offer from 10 June 2019 so if you opt out and then decide you would like to join again in the future, you won't be able to join on the same terms as you have currently.

If you opt out of Pace you'll be automatically enrolled back in around every three years if you meet the criteria. You should note if you are re-enrolled into Pace DC on or after 10 June 2019, you won't be re-enrolled on the same terms as you have currently.

Benefits on leaving Pace DC

If you leave Pace DC with more than one month's service, you will have a choice between:

- Transferring all the money in your account to another registered pension scheme. This will include The Co-op's contributions and any investment growth (or losses) applied to your account, or
- Leaving your account in Pace. This money will remain invested and you will be able to continue to manage your account online. Around 12 to 24 months after you have left The Co-op, your account will be transferred to Legal & General's Mastertrust. The Pace Trustees will write to you in advance to provide you with full details of your options.

What happens if I leave Pace DC but I'm still employed by The Co-op?

If you decide to leave Pace after more than a month but you remain employed by The Co-op, your options are the same as described on the previous page.

If you opt out of Pace but remain employed by The Co-op, you'll still have life cover of £5,000 or 1 x Salary, whichever is highest. Please note that The Co-op changed its pension offer from 10 June 2019 so if you opt out and then decide you would like to join again in the future, you won't be able to join on the same terms as you have currently.

What happens to my AVCs if I leave Pace DC before taking my retirement benefits?

If you decide to transfer your benefits out of Pace, your AVC fund value, including any investment growth or losses, will be transferred as part of your account.

If you decide to leave your account in Pace, your AVCs will remain invested for as long as your account remains in Pace. You'll be able to continue to manage your AVCs online and change your investment choices if you want to.

You should think very carefully before you opt out of Pace DC. The Co-op changed its pension offer from 10 June 2019 so if you opt out and then decide you would like to join again in the future, you won't be able to join on the same terms as you have currently.

Can I transfer my benefits out of Pace DC?

Yes. You can transfer your benefits to another registered pension scheme at any time after you have left Pace. If you are interested in this option, please contact Legal & General.

Remember, it can take several weeks for Payroll to process you as a leaver and let L&G know. L&G cannot transfer your pension to another pensions provider until this notification has been received from The Co-op.

Other information

What happens if I get divorced?

If you get divorced from a marriage or registered civil partnership, your Pace benefits will be included as part of your assets. What actually happens to your benefits depends on how the total assets of the marriage are split as part of the divorce settlement. If the court orders the pension benefits to be shared between the couple, there are three possibilities:

- Your pension rights can be offset against other assets
- Part of your pension rights can be 'earmarked' and paid to your ex-spouse (which includes a civil partner) when you retire
- The value of your pension rights can be divided at the time of divorce (pension sharing). In this case, your ex-spouse's or civil partner's share will generally be transferred to another pension arrangement.

If you want more information, please contact Legal & General.

State benefits

What are the State Pension arrangements?

A new State Pension has been introduced for anyone who reaches State Pension Age from April 2016. It replaces the Basic State Pension and the Second State Pension (S2P). There are transitional arrangements in place for people who have built up S2P, but the aim is that eventually everyone who has paid enough national insurance contributions will get the same amount. Please note, under the new system, you will need 35 qualifying years to receive the full amount of State Pension and you must have a minimum of 10 qualifying years to receive anything. You can find out more at gov.uk

State Pension arrangements before April 2016

The State provided two different kinds of pension:

Basic State Pension

This was a flat-rate pension paid to everybody who had paid enough national insurance contributions during their working life.

State Second Pension (S2P)

This was a top-up to the Basic State Pension, which was based on your actual or deemed earnings on which standard rate Class 1 national insurance contributions were paid or treated as having been paid. If you were ever 'contracted out' of S2P (for example, if you were a member of Pace DB), your new State Pension may be reduced, to reflect the fact that you were paying lower NI contributions during that time. Further details of State benefits, including how to obtain a forecast of your State Pension, can be found on gov.uk

When are State Pensions payable?

State Pensions are payable from State Pension Age. Your State Pension Age will depend on when you were born. Generally, your State Pension Age will be between 65 and 68 but there are some exceptions to this. There is a calculator on gov.uk that will tell you what your State Pension Age is likely to be.

Will I receive a State Pension?

You will receive a State Pension if you have paid sufficient national insurance contributions over your working lifetime. You currently need 35 qualifying years on your national insurance contribution record to qualify for a full State Pension. If your number of qualifying years is less than 35, you will receive a proportionately lower State Pension. Remember, you need a minimum of 10 years qualifying service to receive any State Pension.

At a glance

Membership of Pace DC does not affect your entitlement to the State Pension.

Use the gov.uk website to check your State Pension Age and to obtain a forecast of your State Pension.

State Pensions and State Pension Ages are set by the Government and can change.

More about Pace

How is Pace set up and run?

Pace is a registered pension scheme, whose details are on the register of pension schemes maintained by the Pensions Regulator.

Pace is run by the Trustee Board, in accordance with the Rules and in the interests of all members.

The Trustee Board is responsible for ensuring that Pace is managed effectively, that it complies with a wide range of legal and regulatory requirements and that it is able to pay all your benefits when they are due. The Trustees appoint professional advisers, including actuaries, legal advisers, investment managers and auditors, to help them.

The Pace Trustee Board is called Pace Trustees Limited and looks after both The Co-op Section and The Co-operative Bank Section of Pace. Pace Trustees Limited is separate from The Co-op and The Co-operative Bank. There are four Trustee Directors on the Board who are all professional independent trustees.

The Pace Trustees meet frequently and undertake regular training in relation to issues that they'll need to understand in detail in order to carry out their role, for example investment strategy or valuing DB scheme benefits, as well as current pensions issues.

Money paid into Pace is held in a trust in individual retirement accounts for each member of Pace DC and in a pooled fund for Pace DB benefits. This means the money is kept separate from the assets of The Co-op. The Trustees have chosen Legal & General to administer and invest the money in Pace DC.

Can The Co-op Section of Pace DC be closed or changed?

Co-operative Group Limited can, if the Trustee agrees, change the Rules governing The Co-op Section of Pace DC, including closing it or changing contribution rates.

Co-operative Group Limited can give the Trustee six months' notice that it wants to wind up its section of Pace DC. The Rules and general pensions law determine what would happen in this case.

You can read about each Pace Trustee Director by going to the website, coop.co.uk/pensions

What information does Pace hold about me?

Pace Trustees Limited, as Trustee of the Scheme, uses your personal information to (amongst other reasons) communicate with you and administer the Scheme. We share personal information with third parties such as The Co-operative Group and Legal & General (who provide administration services to us) and to other suppliers of services. In some circumstances, we transfer personal information outside the EEA, for example to Convera to continue pension payments abroad, e.g. in Australia. When we make these disclosures or transfers we take steps to protect your personal information.

For more detailed information on how we use and disclose your personal information, the protections we apply, the legal basis for our use of your information and your data protection rights under data protection laws, please visit coop.co.uk/pensions

What if I have a complaint about Pace?

Any problems with Pace can usually be sorted out by asking Legal & General for more information. If you're not satisfied with the response you receive and you wish to contact the Co-op Pensions Department, please refer to the contact details on page 30. There is also a formal dispute resolution procedure that can be used by anyone who has rights in Pace. For details and relevant forms, you can contact the Secretary to the Trustees, through the Co-op Pensions Department.

What if I want financial advice?

Neither the Trustees, The Co-op nor Legal & General (as the administrator) can provide you with financial advice. If you'd like financial advice before making any decisions about your membership of Pace, you should speak to an independent financial adviser (IFA). You should bear in mind that an IFA will charge for any advice given. To find an adviser in your area, go to moneyhelper.org.uk and search for 'retirement adviser'.

Legal & General's retirement advice

If you're aged 55 or over and living in the UK, a Legal & General adviser could help you review your pension and future retirement options. Should you wish to use this service, prices start from £500 and you have the option to pay directly from your pension pot. To find out more, call 0800 072 0016.

Find out more

The Co-op's pensions website, at coop.co.uk/pensions, contains lots of useful information about Pace. You can access lots of useful tools on the site and manage your account by logging into Manage your Account. You can also download Legal & General's app from the app store on your smartphone or tablet.

For example, you can go online to:

- See how much it costs you to be in Pace DC and how much The Co-op pays in to help you save
- See how much you might get at retirement and what your choices are
- See the current value of your account
- Change your investment choices
- Change your contribution rate
- Change your retirement age
- Start paying AVCs/change your AVCs
- Change your contribution method, i.e. from NICE Pensions to the payroll method (see Section 3, page 10)
- Nominate your beneficiaries to tell the Trustees who you'd like to receive your lump sum benefits in the event of your death
- See fund factsheets for each of the investment funds

You can find out more about Pace by clicking on the useful information section. This area of the website contains:

- Factsheets, giving you more information about various topics, including AVCs, NICE Pensions, and your options at retirement
- Pace annual reports
- Newsletters
- A copy of the Rules.

While you're a member, you'll be sent an annual benefit statement, showing projected estimated benefits so that you can see whether you're on track for the income you need in retirement. Benefit statements are usually issued in November each year.

The DC pension modeller can show you the effect that changing your contributions or the date you retire might have on the benefits you could get at retirement. Go to coop.pacepensions.co.uk/dc-modeller

Some terms you should know

Actively at work

Actively at work means that you have not received medical advice to refrain from work, are not absent from work or restricted from work due to illness or injury, and are actively following your normal occupation.

Annual management charge

The cost of managing your account each year (currently 0.14% of the total value of your account).

The Bank

The Co-operative Bank p.l.c. – the employer that supports The Co-operative Bank Section of Pace.

The Co-op

Co-operative Group Limited and all other participating employers that support The Co-op Section of Pace.

The Co-operative Bank Section

The Section of Pace which is supported by The Co-operative Bank.

The Co-op Section

The Section of Pace which is supported by The Co-op.

Defined benefit (DB)

This is a type of pension arrangement where your benefit is linked to your pay and the length of your membership in the scheme. Final Salary and Average Earnings schemes are types of DB arrangements.

Defined contribution (DC)

This is a type of pension arrangement where the pension you receive at retirement is based on the contributions paid into your account and investment returns. At retirement, you use your account to provide an income or a lump sum.

Dependant

Someone who (in the Trustees' opinion) is, or was at the time of your death, wholly or partly financially dependent on you.

Flexible drawdown

An alternative to cash or an annuity as a way of taking your DC benefits. You can leave your account invested and take sums of money directly from it instead.

Fund management charge

The cost of managing your investments each year. It varies between 0.9% and 0.35% of your account, depending on your investment choices.

Normal pension age

65.

Partner

Your husband, wife, registered civil partner, same sex spouse or any dependant with whom you are in a relationship that the Trustees consider to be similar to marriage for a period of at least six months.

Pay

Also called 'pensionable earnings'. This is your basic pay, plus overtime and any other payments that are pensionable, excluding any bonus payments.

Pensionable earnings

Your pensionable earnings are made up of the parts of your earnings that you and The Co-op are required to pay contributions on. Some elements of your Pay, such as car allowance, are not included in your pensionable salary. See the definition of 'Pay' above.

Pensions website

You can find detailed information about Pace at coop.co.uk/pensions

Registered pension scheme

This is any scheme registered with HMRC. This includes occupational schemes and personal pension schemes but excludes State Pension schemes.

Salary

For the purpose of working out your death in service benefit, 'Salary' means either your pay in the 12 months prior to the date of death, or your basic annual Salary at the date of death, if higher.

Trustees

Pace Trustees Limited. The Trustees are the legal owner of the assets of Pace. Information on your Trustees can be found in Section 8 under 'How is Pace set up and run?'
